FOREWORD

With malice towards none and charity from all, the Seniors present the 1947 WISCONSIN.

This year we are giving you an annual based on an entirely different sort of theme. Have you ever stopped to think of how differently you think of school at various times. Perhaps this thought has never occurred to you, but going to school can be heavenly. Isn't there a point in about late August when the lakes are too dirty to swim and you are about bored to the breaking point, when you seem quite anxious to get back to the excitement of football, dances, club meetings and all those heavenly things about school. But then of course, there are all too numerous all those other times when you think school is just plain H---. Thus, we have made a vain attempt to put forth the "ups and downs" of Wisconsin High using Heaven and "here below" for our theme. Draw your own conclusions as to what belongs in which "resting place" and we sincerely hope that this will raise your "spirits."

DEDICATION

To Miss Jean Hoard, whom we will remember for her valuable guidance in shaping our future.

"The Messiah" 2.

LOOKING BACK

Say Seniors! Do you want to get in on a little secret? For the last few years we have known. We have performed a stupendous task! We've stuck out four battling years at Wisconsin High and for the most part it's been a great life!

Take our Freshman year tance. We started out with a bang as feuding freshmen. In those days as lowly Frosh, we looked up high to the mighty seniors and generously petitioned for an all school "Frolic" in order to share things besides go to Freshman dances. But "Frolic" was a al Chinese lanterns we dug up from "props" held together all evening and decorated the upper gym admirably.

we finally got a chance abilities at giving a dance, into difficult ties. It seems as though we got argument over whether to wear "jeans" or formals; either formal was the appropriate dress for juke box and say, were you one of the fellows on Miss Hoard's "black list", for failing to ask a girl to "snuffle"? Well, anyway, as we all know, formal it was and Peggy King's Orchestra plus red checked tablecloths dressed the dance up royally. The real prize of the evening was a professionally painted sign over the band stand advertising Peggy King. Sopnomore Snuffle went over big! And on now we used to look forward to the noon hour was that the food just wasn't appetizing or if it was the into the "goulash", that sent the bowls back half full. One of the most exciting nights of the year was the night of the Reedsburg Basket ball game the conference scoring record. were we wondering at the time, if we had the makings of a record breaker in our class? Well, the Junior year would tell!

Our class wasn't able to produce any sensational record breakers, but a well to be remembered prom was given. The stately pillars against a midnight blue background sprinkled with shimmering stars, along with Ace and Barbara as a royal couple, made it "the dance" of our high school history. But did you get in on that "behind the scenes" secret? The kids who had worked so laboriously for so long on the prom decorations almost saw them go up in smoke from the testing match of an investigating fire inspector the day before Prom.

acquiring of a school was established this year in record time. Speaking of is THE man playing or over-acting. The seniors decide the teachers really had a hard time after all. Of course we know how much the school was run, but with Fauers' janitors and the clam relieving and Goldgruber, WH should be in scholastic records.

Portage

Dick Peckham's 51 yard jaunt which ended on the Portage 16 yard line, highlighted the rugged, see-saw, scoreless, first half. In the second half Portage scored twice, once on a 27 yard pass and on a 3 yard buck. Both extra point kicks were blocked. The Baizer Props' fourth quarter threat of a 50 yard march ended on the Portage 20 with two successive 15 yard penalties being called on them. Acting captain John Bear stood out in defense while first half Dick Peckham was the power house on offense.

Monroe

Monroe was the Northern Ten Co-champion in 1941 and again won that title this year. They decisively showed that they were the better team in this game. They scored once in each of the first three quarters and twice in the fourth period. Wisconsin High got its lone score also in the fourth quarter with Pete Conlin going over to score. Jim Fish made the extra point. Tommie John Hockey and Ed Tallant were hurt for this game because of a dislocated knee and broken arm, respectively, suffered in the Portage encounter. This fact cut much of the offensive power.

This was another close, evenly matched battle. Sexton had counted on the improved play of Edgerton which improved play of Edgerton. The Props 1. The final minutes of the first half, Edgerton had an 11 yard run for a touchdown. After most of the players had thought the ball was in lard land. It was the Edgerton team that came on the field after the half and a 10 yard pass to the right was the result with a 19 yard making the Edgerton team 10-0 for the Wisconsin High 3-0. The Edgerton team was the better team in the backfield.

SIDELIGHTS ON W.H.S. FOOTBALL LETTER WINNERS

By Coach Metzen

1. Alvin - Alvin played reserve tackle for us and saw considerable action up there in the line in a battle of give and take. We are hoping that this year's experience will add to his skill and talent, will make him a valuable member next year.

2. Porter - Porter proved to be a very valuable "back" player for us. We were in real of a few games, he was really good. Porter in his line-backer position is a real find of great - he never gives up, and that is the pay-off.

3. Bill - Bill is a ball player's player - he has the speed, the endurance and team spirit. He was the team's star player, and rightfully earned the highest honor of all. We hope that if Captain Bill can keep his speed and endurance in a stand out game, he will be a real find in the future. We hope he is able to keep his speed, with that same fiery spirit!

4. Dean - Dean came to us as a new student last year, and he was a real find. When brother Dean was a member of the team, he was a real find of a player, he was a real find of a player, and we hope he will be a real find of a player in the name of Dean in W.H.S. football.

5. Dr. J. D. - Dr. J. D. was a real find. He was a real find of a player, he was a real find of a player, and we hope he will be a real find of a player in the practice fields taking lanes.

6. Stoughton - Stoughton played tackle for us and was a real find. He was a real find of a player, he was a real find of a player, and we hope he will be a real find of a player in the name of Stoughton.

7. Bill - Bill started the season as a reserve player, and he was a real find. He was a real find of a player, he was a real find of a player, and we hope he will be a real find of a player in the name of Bill.

8. Bill - Bill was a stand-out performer for us, a real find of a player, he was a real find of a player, and we hope he will be a real find of a player in the name of Bill. He was chosen "most valuable player" by his teammates. He started the team from the start, and he was a real find of a player, he was a real find of a player, and we hope he will be a real find of a player in the name of Bill. Although he was the shortest player on the team, his speed and power earned him the respect of all opponents.

4. Hammy - Off the football field, Bob is a quiet, pleasant grass-roots fellow, but what a bear-cat he is in those football tows. Starting out at center, he was shifted to full-back in order to utilize his power in our running attack, and really made his presence "felt" on many an occasion. "Hammy" is the type of player it's a pleasure to work with.

5. Buzz - Bob was fortunate in earning his major "W" last season through the misfortunes of others. When the injury jinx hit our backs, he was promoted from the reserves, and performed well. "Buzz" still has a lot to learn, but we think he can do it, and are looking forward to his future performances.

6. Matt - Jim played reserve end, never missed a practice and was never late. He would have been quite an end, too, had he stayed in shape more in weight. His perseverance, patience and willingness must well be copied by future W.H.S. athletes.

7. Manson - A big, rugged fellow, Austin played a lot of tackle for us, and opponents soon learned to respect his prowess. He was a conscientious worker - probably the best in our playing line. "Manson" was always cool for a few laughs, too, especially when he gave someone "the face".

8. Pete - Pete was a stand-out at tackle despite his mere size, and was always giving everything he had. Possessed of a fiery temperament, he just didn't know the meaning of the word "quit". Opponents are relieved that Pete's playing days are over, but we'll certainly miss him next season.

9. Bill - Bill became available to us in '61 season, and was a big factor in our success. A powerful and speedy runner, he was a constant threat, and a headache for the enemy. In his first game, against Fort Atkinson, he inspired the team to victory, and scored 3 touchdowns for our win. "Clash" will be back again next year, so clear the decks for action.

10. Dick - Dick was handicapped by a leg injury that just wouldn't respond to treatment, but when in full condition, he was really a fine end. His rugged physique and speed were a constant threat to the opponents, and when concentrating on what he was doing, he did a superb job, both offensively and defensively. His first was his lone touchdown scorer against Lake Mills in the season's finale.

11. Morse - A light but scrappy end, Dick was never seen to give away when the going got rough. Although only a sophomore, he has already won two major football "W's", and we are looking forward to his earning two more.

PHY. ED.

This class is a required course for all the students in Wisconsin High. One-fourth of a credit per year is given for it. There are body building exercises and also active participation in competitive sports such as, football, basketball, volleyball, baseball track, etc. Classes are held in the respective gym's and during better weather on the intramural fields.

OTHER WISCONSIN HIGH SPORTS

VOLLEYBALL

Until the last few years volleyball had always been synonymous with girls. However, recently there has been a revival of the sport in interscholastic athletic contests. This year's team had a great deal of interest, fight and will to win, but lacked the necessary experience. As the season progressed, the boys improved noticeably. They won the Southern half of the Southern Ten Conference Meet and won representation in the state meet by winning the sectional meet at Madison West. With victory barely within their grasp, in a play-off for the Southern Ten Championship with Baraboo, they saw their chances fade partially due to some questionable officiating. Curtis

TRACK

Although the track team could have made a better showing, it was

Dick Peckham, a prep stalwart, distinguished himself in shot-putting and in throwing the discus. He set a new shot-put record of 48 feet. 6 inches in the West Relays. Jim Fish also aided the cause with some excellent pole vaulting and broad jumping; while Dick Figerson, a

ANNUAL STAFF

It is not unusual for a yearbook staff to be confronted with problems. Our staff was no exception. As a matter-of-fact, this year's staff faced an extremely difficult task under two existing conditions. A major difficulty which presented itself was the obvious lack of sufficient funds through allocation. Our budget had remained the same while costs had greatly increased. Almost prohibitive engraving and printing costs forced us into a situation where we would have either an unprecedentedly small Annual or else have to find a means of reproduction other than printing.

However, the Multilith method of publication was chosen. By using the school machine and Milwaukee made plates we were able to produce an Annual. Not only were we to assemble the copy but also our staff had actual publishing. It gave us good experience, but we should rather have gone with that particular experience.

In presenting a student publication we have tried to accomplish several general objectives. We attempted to break away from the established conventional style found in yearbooks, however, we found this difficult, again partially due to production troubles. We also wanted to give a good typical cross section of the school, its pupils, its faculty, and its activities. We tried to bring forth ideas which would be suggestive to future reminiscing readers of this book. Perhaps (and we sincerely hope so) in ten years certain phrases or pictures will bring to mind some of the incidents which made up student life at Wisconsin High.

We have appreciated the fine cooperative attitude of students and faculty alike. It was encouraging to find many taking our interests to heart, whether by going to the Annual Dances, offering assistance or even verbal expression of a sympathy with our "cause."

We also wish to express our gratitude to Mr. Porter, Mr. Mevarden, and Mr. Staal for making this Annual possible.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The main purpose of our Student Council is to look after the student's welfare. Posing to accomplish that, Council undertook chartering buses for out-of-town games, selling school pennants, obtaining records for the library, and obtaining repairs for the piano. Very important was their sponsorship of the Annual.

An individual tax of ten cents per person per semester was recently introduced. This will be used to support council activities. Stoughton High School invited the Council officers to reorganize their council. The four officers also attended the State Student Council Convention in Cshkosh. They brought back many new ideas. Janet Huiskamp was elected secretary for the State Council. Miss Falk, faculty advisor, might well be proud of her advisees who had a constructive and productive year.

PHOTOGS

If you climbed up to 3rd floor on any night this year, you might have noticed the delicate oper and hypo drifting down the hall. At the source of this once you would find the carkroom where bursts of laughter tell you that Photogs (the club that clicks) had just another roll of pictures taken at the games and in the c

The Annual Staff wants to express their gratitude to Photogs for their full cooperation. Thank you!

DEBATE AND FORENSIC CLUB

The club has done much this year. It entered and did very well in the two activities that are the purposes of the club—debate and forensics. Besides the work this club can have had a lot of fun too. Two initiations were held. Both of which were very enjoyable for those who were already in the club. The new members, however, didn't seem to enjoy themselves, at least until the refreshments were served.

Members of the debate team that competed in the elimination and district contest were: Joanne Conlin, Christopher Becker, Sherwyn Woods, Dave Phillips.

These four were first in the elimination contest of the schools in this area, and finished fourth place in the district.

In forensics, those who entered in the elimination contest were: Chris Becker, Tom Peterson, Dorothy Kobs, Carol Cowan, Louise Frederick, Margaret Trump.

However, Dorothy Kobs and Christopher were the only ones to reach the district contest.

From is always supposed to be very special, and the Juniors of 1946 and 1947 again made it so. Discarding conventionality, Decorations Chairman Rae Rockey and her committee worked hard on a Grecian theme. An amazing transformation took place with the tall white pillars and midnight blue background. Ace Fauerbach and Queen Barbara Barnes reigned over the Prom goers.

As last year's Prom was sophisticated, Betty Neesvig, Decoration Chairman, went to the sublime in producing a tropical jungle. Varied colored lights gave "jungle drums" (which was the theme), palm trees and monkeys an eerie back over a superb Prom.

CHOIR

The all school choir, composed of musically appreciative and early rising students, enjoyed a successful year. Mr. Robert Petzold, an extremely busy gentleman, also had directorship of this organization. The choir's first public appearance was prior to Christmas vacation when they presented the Christmas Assembly. After Christmas an assortment of various Yule-tide numbers performed. For the whole school joined in singing Christmas carols. During the Easter season "The Seven Last Words" were presented in a program to the school, and again at the final assembly of the year. Choir's "swan song" consisted of participating in the Spring Concert.

ORPHEUS

Orpheus, the musical club of this high school, is a very active character in mythology whose power of playing music was so great that he charmed the rocks. Orpheus members do not perform feats, but are only glad to take an interest in music and to participate in one of the school's musical organizations.

The club was supposed to meet every second Thursday of the month, but one of its thirty-five members. Following the regular meeting, the program chairman introduces the songs which are performed. Sometimes the whole club sings, but more often a smaller group performs with piano accompaniment. Occasionally some member brings his instrument and entertains the group. After rehearsal is over, the members always finish with a lighter heart, a new interest and a better understanding of the club to which he belongs.

HI-Y

A new tradition was established in November when the Hi-Y club sponsored the first annual homecoming dance which was presided over by the homecoming queen, the Rockey. The club was active in many other diversified activities. At the suggestion of student council, Hi Y undertook supervising the lunchroom. In their project was an interest in basketball for the benefit of the boys not participating in varsity athletics.

They donated money to the fund which was raised by trap and collections. Initiations were part of the fun along with various business meetings. Hi Y's claim to fame might be that it was among the most improved clubs in the city, then again it might be the favorable faculty reaction for the first time in years truly an advantage to any Wisconsin High club.

MADISON YOUTH COUNCIL

The Madison Youth Council is a group of representatives from various organizations in the Madison area. It was one of the first groups in the nation and is probably the most well developed of its kind. One of its major accomplishments was the securing of a Youth Recreation Center, The Loft. Wisconsin High is distinguished by its youth council. This year's Council President was Barbara Doig. The members of the executive board which controls the youth aspects of the Loft.

JUNIOR RED CROSS COUNCIL

The Junior Red Cross Council of Miss Ruth Johnson, High School, was organized in April. Regular monthly business meetings are held with occasional programs presented before its members. The council included the annual enrollment of the Junior Red Cross, mailing Christmas boxes to the war zone, and the raising of any articles such as travel covers, napkins, decorations, etc. for use in service hospitals.

Members of the Junior Red Cross Council are also active in the Junior Red Cross. We are proud of Dave Miller, Wisconsin High's representative, who was elected President of the County Council.

The Madison Youth Council stands ready to answer the call, "WE SERVE."

RADIO WORKSHOP

Radio Workshop is a relatively new group in Wisconsin High, that arose after the "Class of '46's" presentation of a microphone and attachments to the school.

The purpose of the group is to help the student become acquainted with a microphone and to teach him how to operate the engineering equipment. The group met every Monday, experimenting vocally with reading and "on Mike" testings.

The group presented a quiz show for the entire school. As Mr. Sawyer said, "We were just trying our wings." He, the teacher, and the group will be proud of our organization in the future.

Radio workshop started our assemblies by producing Wis. High's first radio quiz show. They followed that with a radio show of the effects of the atomic bomb. Some of the other assemblies included Choir's Christmas program, Walt Meanwell's presentation of clea week, and Mr. Evjue's answer to the query, 'Is the Press free?'

COULD IT HAPPEN?

One morning at 8:50, the bell rang, signifying the start of school. Something happened in Miss Johnson's history class. All was quiet. For once the room was in order. The previous University class had put the chairs under the table. Jaggett wasn't arguing with the Fractive Teachers!! It wasn't necessary for Miss Johnson to ask the class to be quiet!

For a whole hour this mood prevailed. No one was discourteous. When the bell rang the class didn't jump up to interrupt Miss Johnson in the middle of a sentence. Nobody moved. There was nobody there to move--it was the day of the great blizzard.....

By Tom Peterson

Writing essays is easy; at least that is our own unprejudiced opinion. No one told us to say that. Our head (or is it heads) have not been turned by great success in the writing of essays. In fact, we have written only one in our whole life. Therefore because of our free and unbiased outlook on this field of literature, we would like to pass on to you our own experience in writing essays.

[illegible]

It is a bright Spring morning and we are found sitting in our English class, all of us, wide awake, and listening with attention to the lecturer as he points out that we have distorted one or two facts in order to maintain the mood of this narrative. The lecturer is explaining the essay and how it has evolved from the old style to its modern form. Our notes show that we have been told that Montaigne was the father of the modern essay. "What a man!" we think as we notice the "Index to 5000 Modern Essays" on the teacher's desk. Since the next ten minutes are spent in attempting to read the first chapter, the oldest we have in our class, we are all of us, wide awake, and listening with attention.

By now we have missed most of the notes on Emerson's "Self-Reliance". "I can copy them from someone else. Mr. Emerson will never know the difference." Locating takes over where Locust and Emerson left off. Soon our tour takes us to the horrors of gas warfare.

Suddenly a murmur sweeps over the class. It seems that the assignment has been given, and with such subtlety and cleverness that we have missed it. We lean over and being careful not to startle our neighbor too suddenly from his sound sleep, find out the assignment.

"Write an essay," he grumbles and taking out his pen knife he begins to carve his initials in our hand. Quickly the painting. It may be worth millions!) At present our to a good essay. Ah, we think, this will be a cinch! Many vik Revolution in Java; basketweaving.

Suddenly a thought enters our mind, but seeing the black emptiness it quickly retreats. Sometimes it is a good idea to read a few essays before trying to write one. Paging through a book we come upon a number of well known essays.
"A Dissertation on the Pork Chop" by Charles Lamb; "Oxford
"The Treasurer's Report", by Henry Morgenthau, Junior.

Glancing through these gives us some idea of a subject and the best method of presenting it. For instance, in a We will find this is not absolutely necessary, however, because if our essay has no humor in it, two other classes exist in which it may be placed: (1) Serious, (2) Paper in which the garbage is to be wrapped.

Now we choose a subject. Of course we remember that freshness and originality are the most important points of an essay. If an inspiration doesn't strike immediately, don't worry there's always a chance that the coal miners will. We decide to wait for an inspiration- forcing would only result in a strained type of essay which certainly is the last thing we, as an author, want as the fruits of our genius. Yes, we must wait patiently.

Three weeks pass and still no inspiration. By now our teacher seems very anxious to get our essay. We wonder could it be that she wants to have it published? Or is it because it was due two weeks ago? This question perplexes us for the remainder of the month.

Still an inspiration has failed to strike. If our essay is to be one of the great essays of modern times, it is essential that it come naturally. We dare not hurry it. We must let nature take her course even though she seems to be travelling by ox cart.

Another week passes. We begin to feel that perhaps our teacher would be satisfied with merely the greatest essay of the decade. For some unknown reason our grade in English is seen to be dropping lower each day. As John Masefield so aptly put it, we have "gone down to the 'C' again." If we listen carefully we are just able to detect a slight note of annoyance in the teacher's voice as she threatens to have us expelled from school.

And then at last it comes! Our inspiration comes just as we knew it would! Feverishly we begin to write. Our mind is alive with ideas and thoughts. We burn the midnight mazda, writing and revising our masterpiece. At last it is finished! Wearily we climb into bed, exhausted but content in the knowledge of a good job well done. Yes, we feel sure that our essay on writing essays will be a best seller within a few days!

DEPARTURE

Harsh winds blow the ocean spray against my face;
Foaming waves churn against the boat carrying me away.
Some day I shall return to the cool blue shadows
Cast by the stately trees of my land;
Back to the purple solitude of the forests where only the winds stir.

THE RIME OF THE RAZORBACK HOG

SOW WHAT?

These letters were exchanged between C. F. Akers, a hill billy farmer living near the town of Newburg, Kentucky, and S. C. James, a Railroad claim agent of Saint Louis, Missouri.

Dear Mr. James:

My razorback strolled down your track a week ago today;
Your "29" came down the line and snuffed
his life away.
You can't blame me; the hog, you see, slipped through a cattle gate.
So kindly pen a check for ten, the debt to liquidate.

C. F. Akers, February 1st.

My dear Mr. [Name]

I have just received your letter of the 11th inst. and am glad to hear that you are well. I am also well and hope this letter finds you the same. I have been thinking of you very much lately and wondering how you are getting on. I hope you are enjoying your work and life.

Very truly yours,

My dear [Name],
I have just received your letter of the 11th inst. and am glad to hear that you are well. I am also well and hope this letter finds you the same. I have been thinking of you very much lately and wondering how you are getting on. I hope you are enjoying your work and life.

Dear Mr. Claim Agent:

My lawyer wise will analyze
This case for me, I'm sure:
And ere he's through, I say to you,
"Your old pike will be poor."
You are so warped and judgment shy
That when a straight claim passes by
You cannot tell the bad from good,
And would not do it if you could.
The trial will come off at my home
And we will bump your ivory dome.
So when the case has gone to suit,
You'll lose and pay all costs to boot.
There's still a chance to stop this claim:
Send check for forty in my name.
C. F. Akers, February 20th.

Farmer Akers:

I have your reply, and wonder why
You can so foolish be.
On evidence and common sense
Your case will soon be tried;
And when the facts pile up in stacks
We'll prove that you have lied.
So to protect your self respect
And keep you out of jail,
I hereby state without debate
Facts that will make you quail.
Mr. R. R. P., of Tennessee,
Was told to scan the track
To search the ground and look around,
But evidence bring back.
A leg he found with rope around,
Tied just below the bend.
He then traced back and by the track,
He found the other end.
The engineer (and none his peer)
Was seen that very night.
He said he'd swear by his last hair
The pig was tied down tight.
I'm confident you will relent
When you have read this o'er,
As freedom's sweet, more so than meat
Canned from the youngest boar.
By return post withdraw your boast

And claim which is no good.
Then take up law, or wood go saw,
But live as good men should.

S. C. James, February 27th.

My Dear Mr. Claim Agent James:

Good Heavens! Help! Enough, say I.
Oh, listen to my plaintive cry!
Won't you let me pay you ten
And never mention this again?
I'm deacon in our church, you see.
My reputation's dear to me,
And I am surely much to blame;
Please spare to me my own fair name.
Oh! Please don't throw me into jail,
You mighty magnate of the rail!
And if on juries I am drawn
I'll stick by you until the dawn;
And never more will I essay
To get more than my lawful pay
For any razorback too gay
That roams upon your right of way.

C. F. Akers, March 1st.

Bob Junge

There are meters of accent,
There are meters of tone,
But the best of the meters,
Is to meet her alone.

Carol Cowan

As Tucker Burkhalter said after breaking Huis kamp's glasses, "It's not the lenses I want!
It's the frame I'm after!"

IT ACTUALLY HAPPENED!

A number of years ago while Mr. Davis and a group of friends were traveling in the East, they decided to have dinner at one of the many sea food restaurants along the coast. When the group was seated the waiter approached them, turned to Mr. Davis and said, "Crab?"

"SIGHS" OF THE TIMES

When you dust off this annual twenty five years from now, perhaps this page will bring back many memories...

Remember when we came back to school in the fall of 1946 singing "The Things we Did Last Summer"? Pretty soon "Kilroy was Here" decorated the blackboards and walls at school. (That was before the paint job.) It'll be a long time before we forget Tommy Dorsey's Swing Concert on Homecoming and how he played "To Each His Own" and "September Song". The band at Wisconsin High's first Homecoming dance featured these, and more.

Then winter came, along with hard work for the semester and lots of new songs. "Walking in a Winter Wonderland" was heard at practically all of the Christmas formal. "The Old Lamplighter" came around about the first of 1947. Nobody will forget New Year's Eve!

As school reopened, the Annual Staff began to worry about money. Again, there were the after game Annual dances. The staff bought new records and the loyal supporters danced to "Surrender", "Temptation", and "You Keep Coming Back Like A Song".

Then, "Open the Door, Richard" hit Madison and WHS. Those with a musical bent sang it and everybody pounded on doors and yelled it. The floor show at the Sophomore's Pre Shuffle dance was centered around it.

Philo's Valentine's dance should not be forgotten with "You Belong to my Heart" for a theme.

Everybody hoped for spring when Sophomore Shuffle rolled around. But in spite of cold weather, "How Deep is the Ocean?" staged a small comeback with the help of the decorations.

"Sooner or Later", spring did come, bringing spring fever and songs like "Zippidy Doo Da" and "Blue Skies". Senior Swing came, with Dick Gettle and Bill Palmer singing "Detour". This started the whole school! Several people said that the only record played at Swing was "Heartaches". (Sexton brought the records.)

The all school play loomed near and we all wondered if the "Imaginary Invalid" would say, "I'm not long for this world!"

Prom came the next weekend. Meanwhile the "Jolson Story" had come and the school was singing "April Showers". This was too appropriate as it rained and snowed on Prom night.

As the annual goes to press, "Jealousy" is being sung in the halls. "Drop dead!" is often ejaculated by a disgusted student. Our only hope is that the latest "Sighs" of the times don't affect the student body too strongly.....
